REID ORDERS BAN PUT ON PUNCHBOARDS

Eight Boards Confiscated by Undersheriff in Various Parts of the City

DISTRICT ATTORNEY NOTIFIES SHERIFF TO START "CLEAN-UP"

Warrants May Possibly be Issued for Storekeepers Who Violate the Law

"WAR" has been declared again on the punchboard in La Crosse. Acting on instructions from District Attorney Lucien Reid, Undersheriff Lund Friday afternoon visited eight stores on the north side, downtown and on the south side and confiscated eight punchboards.

Saturday morning the district attorney conferred with County Judge Brindley regarding the situation. It is possible that warrants will be issued for the cigar and candy store proprietors whose boards were seized by the undersheriff.

Several months ago the district attorney warned all storekeepers whose counters are adorned with punchboards for candy or merchandise to remove the boards. The order was promptly complied with and within a few hours there wasn't a punchboard visible in any store. This situation prevailed for several weeks. The authorities assert, then the lid was tilted a little; after awhile it was preyed up a little more and finally the lid was tacked on the clouds.

League Council Approves U. S. Mandates Note

GENEVA.—The United States, reply to the associated powers on the subject of mandates was up for consideration by the council of the league of nations Saturday. The council found that the reply furnishes a satisfactory basis for continuation of negotiations notwithstanding that it withholds permission for the mandate question to be settled by the forthcoming meeting of the assembly of the league.

The American note makes numerous suggestions for changes in terms which appear to be acceptable to the powers and the league, but adds an interpretation of the relation of the United States to mandates which involves some difficulties. Altogether, however, a favorable impression was created in league circles by the American note. The council decided that there was nothing further for it to do in the matter since negotiations are going on directly between the various mandatories and Washington.

BIG BOMBING PLANE LANDS HERE ON WAY TO MINNESOTA FAIR

Martin Bomber With Crew of Six Making Long Flight from Langley Field, Va.

LOCAL WIRELESS SIGNALS SET PLANE ON COURSE WHEN LOST

Bad Weather Forces Flyers to Descend

A big Martin bomber on its way from Langley field, Virginia, to the Minnesota state fair at Minneapolis landed at Salzer field at 12:30 p. m. city time Friday morning. The plane left Rantoul field at Champaign, Ill., at 7:20 Friday morning. The plan was to make a non-stop flight to Minneapolis, but on account of the bad weather encountered it was decided to land at La Crosse.

They were forced to buck a twenty-mile wind all the way from Rantoul, said Lt. R. A. Day in charge of the plane, and therefore were able to average only about 70 miles per hour. With a slightly favorable breeze they are able to maintain a speed of 100 miles per hour.

The plane has completed over a thousand miles of its trip to Minneapolis. It left Langley field in Virginia on Wednesday, flew a distance of 500 miles to McCook field at Dayton, Ohio, the first day, and from there to Rantoul field Thursday. No trouble of any sort has been experienced on the trip, said Lieutenant Day.

A crew of five men and a radio operator arrived in the plane. The members of the crew are Lieut. R. A. Day, Lieut. Jack Palmer, Sgt. English, Pvt. Morehouse, and Sgt. R. H. Blair, radio operator.

The wireless on the ship was able to pick up the set of E. N. Fridgen, North Side amateur radio operator, when about 80 miles from La Crosse, said Sgt. Blair. He also got in touch with other local wireless sets, but none so well as Mr. Fridgen's. When he first picked up the call from here the plane was lost, according to information received by Mr. Fridgen from Sgt. Blair and the hearing of the signals from the local man's set enabled the plane to get back on its course again.

The big bomber will give exhibition flights at the Minnesota State fair and will pass over La Crosse again in about a week. Mr. Fridgen said that Sgt. Blair has promised to notify him of the exact date in order that local wireless men may be on the lookout for them on the return trip. The plane "hopped off" for the Twin Cities about 5 p. m. Friday afternoon.

WHOLE OF VOLGA BASIN REPORTED IN FAMINE GRIP

Refugees Bring Tragic Tales of Hunger and Disease Over Wide Territory

HOME OWNERS FORBIDDEN TO LEAVE FAMINE DISTRICTS

Many Villages Burned to Give Residents Excuse to Leave

BARANIWITCHEL, Russia, Sept. 3.

By The Associated Press.—Refugees passing through this city and districts in Northeastern Russia declare the entire lower Volga basin, the region through which flows the Don river and the districts along the lower courses of the Dnieper and Bug are stricken by the scourge of famine. In conversation with Dr. Roy Smith, head of the American Red Cross Medical unit here, they tell of severe drought, grain destroyed by the intense heat and of hunger and disease. Virtually the entire country between the thirty-fifth meridian of longitude and the Ishim river in Siberia, is suffering in some degree, the refugees declare.

The soviet government issued orders that any person having a house should not be allowed to go to Siberia from the famine district, and it is asserted that whole villages have been burned so that the owners of houses in them would have an excuse to leave.

The government, unable to secure food for soldiers in the famine districts, has been obliged to move its troops to more favored localities.

Two intelligence men were sent among the refugees, lined up at food kitchens here and were instructed to ask every adult the name of the village whence he came and what the food prospects were when he left.

When the work was finished it was found that the following districts were listed under "very bad": Astrakhan, Saratov, Simbirsk, Samara, Kazan, Ufa, the Don Cossack region, the Cossack region, Tula, Kherson, Ekaterinoslav and parts of Voronezh, Tambov, Penza and Kharkov.

In addition to the failure of the crops over all this vast region the refugees say that horses and cattle are dying and that there will be little planted during the coming autumn. This will, it is declared, result next year in a worse food shortage.

GRACE LUSK ASKS PARDON; HEARING SET FOR SEPT. 14

School Teacher, Serving Time for Killing Waukesha Woman, Reported Ill

MADISON, Wis.—Grace M. Lusk of Waukesha, serving a 20 year sentence in Waupun for the killing of Mrs. David Roberts, has asked Governor Blair for a pardon and will be given a hearing on Wednesday, September 14.

Miss Lusk was convicted May 30, 1918, and entered the prison on June 20. Reports from the prison indicate that she has been a model prisoner, but that she has been in failing health. Last May she was temporarily released from Waupun to visit the bedside of her dying father. After his death, she returned to the prison without a protest. The best information that can be obtained is that Miss Lusk has been ill for some time.

Mrs. Roberts was killed as a result of a love triangle. David Roberts was later convicted on a statutory offense and served a one-year term in the house of correction at Milwaukee.

George J. Leicht of Wausau will represent Miss Lusk at the pardon hearing.

BALD HEADS SIGN OF BOTH CHARACTER AND BRAINS SAYS VOLIVA

ZION, Ill.—A bald head is a sign of both character and brains. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, told the female portion of his audience at the regular weekly rally at Shiloh tabernacle.

"You'll never see a bald headed man in a lunatic asylum," he told them. "But girls, have nothing to do with young men who go around without a hat," he advised. "When you see a young man going around the streets hatless you might as well put it down that that fellow's got rats in his hair. I won't let men work in any Zion institution who go around without hats. They are just as bad as the fellows with long hair."

GOMPERS ASKS THE PRESIDENT TO CALL MINE CONFERENCE

Suggests Discussion Between Miners and Operators to Settle Dispute

PEOPLE CANNOT OPPOSE U. S. AUTHORITY SAYS LABOR CHIEF

Visits White House to Present Situation to Harding

WASHINGTON.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor told President Harding Saturday that against the authority of the government of the United States "the people of West Virginia cannot and must not stand in hostile array."

Mr. Gompers and James Lord, president of the mining department of the federation, called on the president, they explained, to lay before him the situation as they viewed it. Mr. Gompers said he also told the president that after all, when the men have obeyed the order of the president and dispersed "it may crush their spirit but that is no reason of the acute situation as it exists in West Virginia, and nothing will be settled."

The federation president urged Mr. Harding to adopt the suggestion of President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, that a conference of operators and miners be called to endeavor to reach a conclusion which would not only settle the president's controversy but establish better relations between the miners and operators for the future.

The president, Mr. Gompers said, listened with keen interest and sympathy to his appeal but stated his first duty as president was to establish the authority of the United States and the maintenance of order.

On leaving the white house Mr. Gompers dictated a statement, in which after referring to the wage award last year and the "disorganization" of the miners "first by injunction" and then imposition of individual contracts he declared that "gunmen and detective agencies are really the cause of the whole conflict now."

WORLD IS GETTING BETTER AND WISER DECLARES HARDING

Sends Letter to be Read at Dedication of Peace Portal Between U. S. and Canada

SAYS ENTIRE WORLD LOOKS TO EXAMPLE OF THE TWO NATIONS

Points to 3,000 Miles of Unfortified Boundary

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An unfortified boundary line of more than three thousand miles long between the United States and Canada is the best testimony that the world grows wiser and better, President Harding said in a letter Saturday to be read at the dedication of a peace portal erected near Blaine, Wash., in commemoration of more than a century of uninterrupted peace between America and Great Britain.

The portal, to be dedicated September 6, on the international line, was conceived by Samuel Hill of Seattle. In recognition of the significance of the occasion the president wrote Mr. Hill as follows:

"The ancient Romans erected a temple to Janus, a dispenser of peace and war, and ordered that its gates should never be closed while the nation was at war. In seven centuries they are said to have been closed but three times. You have erected a temple of peace, whose gates are never to be closed save in war. Already it stands for more than a century of unbroken peace between Britain and America, and we all join in the hope that in coming times it may commemorate an era of peace much longer than the period of wars for which the temple of Janus stood."

"One century and more of peace with the British empire, our relations of unbroken amity with Canada, the fact that a boundary line over 3,000 miles long remains unfortified—these are the testimonies that the world grows wiser and better. All mankind looks to this example, yearns to follow it and we are justified in believing that a time is at hand when it may take a long step in that direction. On the occasion of the dedication of the Pacific peace portal, I wish to convey to you personally my high appreciation of your patriotic service in providing a symbolic shrine to international peace and in doing so I would also thank the Pacific Highway association, the builder of the portal, for the fine co-operation it has rendered."

Councillors Refused to Carry Out County Council's Order to Raise Rates

LONDON.—George Lansbury, editor of the Daily Herald, the national labor organ, who is a member of the Poplar borough council, his son, Edgar, and three other Poplar councillors, were arrested Saturday morning in connection with the refusal of the council to carry out the order of the London county council to raise tax rates. The women members of the council will be arrested Monday, it was announced.

Several of the councillors were arrested Friday and Saturday's arrests brings the number taken into custody to 19. The council has 30 members. The Poplar trades council and other bodies have issued appeals for subscriptions to support the families of the arrested members of the council while they are in custody.

Would Broaden Scope of U. S. Mingo Inquiry

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Efforts are to be made by the United Mine Workers to have the senate committee which will meet on September 19 to investigate the mining situation in Mingo county, W. Va., broaden the scope of its inquiry so as to include the area now being occupied by federal troops.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the union, has stated he would go before the committee and ask that it extend its investigation to Kanawha, Boone, Logan, McDowell and other counties, where miners have been at odds with the coal companies.

Failing in this, Murray said, he would bring the situation before the miners' national convention at Indianapolis on September 20 with the purpose of having it request President Harding to use his good offices to have the senate committee broaden its inquiry or have another committee appointed.

COMMITTEES TAKE FAVORABLE ACTION ON SEWAGE RELIEF

To Report Favorably on Resolutions Pending Action in the Common Council

BELIEVE THE GOVERNMENT WOULD ASSUME EXPENSES

Month Required to Secure Dredging Permit

RESOLUTIONS designed to bring relief to residents on the north and south sides in connection with stagnant sewage pools threatening health in the vicinity of Mississippi and Front streets and at the foot of Hazard street received favorable action on the part of council committees to which they were referred, at the Friday evening session in the city hall.

Two resolutions, one calling for permission to dredge out the channel immediately below Isle La Pume and the other asking for an appropriation by the county board of $10,000 for the purpose of closing Hammond and Dodge chutes to permit an increased flowage of water into Black river, were considered by the council committees at their meeting Friday evening. After a short discussion of the two projects in mind, members of the committees voted unanimously in favor of the passage of the resolutions at the September session of the city council.

Ask Government Aid
In the event sufficient pressure was brought to bear upon the strict necessity of maintaining an open channel near Isle La Pume to safeguard the health of the people, it was the contention of the committees that the government would assume the expense of carrying out the work. It was suggested that a channel be constructed across the lower end of Isle La Pume, rather than open up a sandbar which has accumulated as a result of the dam placed in that vicinity by the government.

Questioned as to the length of time necessary for the local council to secure permission from the war department to begin the work, Captain W. A. Thompson, United States engineer in charge of this section of the river, declared that an answer could be expected from Washington in about a month.

Boats on Dry Land
Definite action will be taken on the proposition at the September meeting of the common council to be held September 9.

Further necessity of opening up a waterway in that section was pointed out in the fact that numerous motor boat owners, who are required to pay a license fee similar to automobile owners, are denied the privilege of using their craft because of the present low water stage. It was stated that a majority of the boat owners were now on dry land.

EXPECT TODAY WILL SEE END OF FIGHTING

Arrival of Federal Troops Finds Situation Quieter With Little Shooting Going on

NO WORD AS TO NUMBER OF MEN KILLED IN FIGHTING

Men Will Return Home When Guaranteed Protection Says Mine Union Official

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Federal troops operating out of Madison, W. Va., in the territory occupied by armed bands opposing the force of state police had their first encounter near Sharples Saturday. They met and disarmed some men who were holding a locomotive on the Little Coal river branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Just what situation prevails upon the mountain ridges of Southwestern West Virginia as federal troops go forward to take command of the latest eruption of the miners-operators' war in the coal fields was hard to ascertain on Saturday. Reports were that the miners, their object of securing federal troops attained, were dispersing to their homes, but there was no word from the "front" in Boone and Logan counties, where heavy firing was reported Friday.

Late Friday night it was rumored that 200 men had been killed in the fighting between the miners on one side and local officials and mine guards on the other, but there was no confirmation of these reports available. Official information was that the situation was quieter near Logan, where the worst fighting was reported Friday. The bodies of two men of the state and county forces were brought into Logan, but there was no word of the casualties to the other side.

Officer Reports Quiet

LOGAN, W. Va.—Colonel Eubanks, commanding the state and county forces in Logan county, announced at noon that reports reaching him from Spruce Fork ridge, said the situation there had been "comparatively quiet." The only concentration of forces on the east side of the mountains of which he had any knowledge, he added, was at Blair.

The first detachment of the federal troops to reach Logan was expected at noon. There were reports that a number of men from the "army" opposed to the state and county forces, had been brought here wounded, having fallen in Friday's fight, and that some of them had died. No details were given by the authorities.

The bodies of two men killed in the fighting on Blair mountain Friday, were brought here. They were members of the attacking forces, the authorities said, but their identity was not disclosed.

Firing was resumed a short time before noon from a machine gun along Crooked creek. The defenders said they had been unable to locate it.

Today to End Fighting?

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—By The Associated Press.—The remaining troops ordered into the disturbed counties of the southeastern part of the state, arrived Saturday and took up positions designated by Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz in command of the federal soldiers. The first of the troops arrived Friday night in Madison, Boone county, behind the lines of the armed bands further up the mountain at the Logan county line. Federal and state military authorities believed Saturday will see the end of the belligerency on the Boone-Logan boundary line, and others gathered there will rapidly disperse and return to their homes under the protection of the federal troops.

International Vice President Philip Murray of the United Mine Workers expressed his personal judgment in a statement Friday night that the presence of federal troops will result in immediate quiet being restored.

Men Welcome Troops
"The men will welcome the federal troops with open arms," he said. District Vice President William Peary of Charleston said he had assurances from the men that they would not oppose the regular troops and (Continued on page six)

Rev. Carlos C. Rowellson enjoyed a unique vacation this summer, quite in contrast to his trip to Boston and vicinity a year ago. With his family he occupied the parsonage of the Congregational church at Solon Springs, Wis., preaching Sunday mornings at Solon Springs and evenings at Minong. As chairman of the board of directors of the Wisconsin Congregational conference, he is particularly interested in the missionary problems of northern Wisconsin, and accepted this sort of a vacation to gain a more intimate understanding of just what these problems are. His diversions were fishing, boating, bathing, hiking, motoring and the like.
The Can Claire First church is to dedicate its splendid new house of worship Sunday, September 4. The annual meeting of the Wisconsin Congregational conference will be held in this church October 3-6.

LA CROSSE COUNTY WINS MANY PRIZES AT FAIR THIS YEAR

With Awards Only Partially Completed this District Making Record in Departments

La Crosse county is making a fine record at the State fair at Milwaukee this year. With the list of awards only partially completed, many trophies from La Crosse county have already won a large number of prizes in competition against a big field.

In the corn classes, which are the only ones that have been finally judged as yet, John Bendel, Jr., won first and sweepstakes on ten ears of Golden Glow, third on ten ears of Silver King, fourth on 50 ears of Golden Glow, and first on four stalks of Silver King. J. Wehinger won first on 50 ears of Golden Glow, fourth on four stalks of Golden Glow, second on four stalks of Golden Glow, second on the best single ear of corn, and third on ten ears of Golden Glow.
Ed Peters won first on 50 ears of Silver King, fourth on ten ears of Golden Glow, and second on four stalks of Silver King. Otto Wolf, S. L. Markle and Gasper Brothers, have also won a number of prizes on their corn.

The La Crosse county booth won second place with twenty counties competing.
In the breed classes Andrew Martin of West Salem has won over $2.00 in premiums. This is the first year that Mr. Martin has competed at the fair.

In the Swine department J. L. McDonald is high man in the Poland China classes. Fred Sprain, J. W. Thomas, and F. L. Atwater are big winners in the Duroc breed classes. Hyde and Funk with their Herford, B. B. Jones and Gideon Marco with their short horn cattle, and J. P. McDonald with his Holsteins, are also in the money in the cattle classes.

In the Boys' and Girls' club class La Crosse county won first and second on Silver King corn, and second on Golden Glow.

A number of prizes on soy beans were taken by La Crosse county contestants. Otto Wolf won first on the best bundle of Wisconsin E. Black for seed, with Ed Peters second, Otto Wolf also won first on Manchu soy beans for seed with Ed Peters second. Gasper Brothers won first and sweepstakes on Rio Sans for hay. Otto Wolf won first on Black Eyebrow soy beans for hay and first on Trailing Silage soy beans.

With the judging still incomplete La Crosse county stood second among the ten leading counties of the state for the sweepstakes, scoring on the basis of one point for a dollar won.

In Chicago more than 300 marriage licenses were issued in one day recently.

KEEP THE COMMANDMENTS

THERE is none good but one, and that is, God; but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments.—Matt. 23: 17.

Faintheart Ne'er Won

THROUGHOUT the president's speech to the war college one sensed a position on the subject of disarmament and world peace that seems somehow at variance with the attitude fitting in a statesman undertaking to launch a great reform in the direction of international amity.

"It is perfectly futile to think there will never be conflict," Mr. Harding told the officers. His reason is that in the 6,000 years of recorded civilization "we have only lately come to a civilized state of warfare." One may question whether there is any such thing as a "civilized state of warfare"—the destruction of civilian life and property far behind the lines in the great war doesn't fit that description very well—but even passing for the moment the contradiction in terms, isn't the president's reasoning a "non sequitur"? In effect the reason he gives for believing that war must continue to be is that it has always been. That is not the reasoning of a man with a great vision. It is the ground-burrowing conclusion of despair. If the only factors in the problem of international relations that the president can see or feel are those which have always ruled, he is right in concluding that war must continue. But then why disarm? Why prate of international peace? What's the use of wasting time on the forthcoming conference?

But the fact is that the traditional reasons which made war inevitable are no longer alone in the field. The very fact that all the world is seeking means to peace is evidence that there are factors to be considered beyond the elements which have bred wars for 6,000 years. One of them is that the major powers of the world, with few exceptions, now have governments of the common man. For the most of President Harding's 6,000 years of civilization the world was ruled by kings and chiefs to whom war was a business and brought a profit. Their subjects died, but mostly they reaped personal benefits by their deaths. Naturally there was war these 6,000 years. Now—and only in the last 150 years of the 6,000, be it remembered—the cannon-fodder has a voice. It is an increasingly authoritative voice. And louder and more insistently than it speaks upon any other matter of government it says: WAR MUST END!

Another factor that is altogether new is the inhuman, devilish destructiveness of what President Harding pleasantly refers to as "a civilized state of warfare." That is an insufficient euphemism for a military activity that embraces poison gas, machine guns, airplane bombing of unfortified towns, submerging of merchant and passenger vessels, and other deadly modes of attack on the life and morale of nations, considered aside from their armies, which were developed during the world war. Flesh and blood cannot stand much further "civilization" of warfare in the present direction of scientific, wholesale massacre. War in most of the president's 6,000 years was a matter of hand-to-hand fighting between men of military age, a specialized enterprise of a limited number of any country's population. Now war requires the services and endangers the life and property of practically the whole population. It is, by long odds, so much more terrible in its effects on the mass of mankind than the generality of conditions which have hitherto been regarded as sufficient reasons for war that it seems inevitable that nations will find some less dreadful means of settling disputes. By its increasing awfulness war is making itself unthinkable.

War, even at present almost equivalent to national suicide, and apparently destined to be quite that as military science develops, offers a hazard which no people dare face, or face equably at least. One man, had he the power, might deem it worth while to gamble millions of lives and whole cities and countryside upon a point of friction. But in a world where despots no longer exist, when the decision for war must be made by men whose careers depend on the goodwill and support of the millions such a decision dooms, the will to peace is uppermost, and will surely rule. Fainthearted statesmen may hesitate to break with the tradition that war is the supreme arbitrament, fearing to trust a principle that is not written in history. But those who look forward and not back for guidance know that the 6,000 years of war are close to their end. The statesman who insists on steering by the chart of 6,000 years ago is headed for shipwreck. The future belongs to those who can offer guidance to the peoples along the path which they want to follow—the path of peace. If our present leaders cannot find the way, others with better vision and surer instincts will be raised up.

Something is Wrong

MINERS say the trouble in the West Virginia coal fields is due to resentment against the use of private detectives and mine guards by the operators in the district as "keepers of the peace". They maintain that the public officials of the district are either over-awed by the operators and their gunmen, or in league with them, and that the result is the failure of individual rights. The present trouble, they assert, is a demonstration against efforts to oust union miners and operators from the district made by the operators and their forces. They regard, according to their leaders, the intervention of federal troops as a victory over the operators, considering that the soldiers will enforce impartial justice and subdue the detectives and mine guards as well as unruly miners.

The mine operators offer no explanation of the situation, except to say that life and property is in danger. On the causes which have placed life and property in danger they are silent.

Whatever the causes, it is apparent that there is some underlying trouble in southern West Virginia that is intolerable in a civilized democracy. Year after year it has been the scene of violence and bloodshed, in marked contrast with the normal peace of all other coal districts in the country. Other coal fields have labor difficulties, strikes and occasionally there has been sporadic violence. But these have been short-lived, and within brief periods settlements have been reached under which miners and operators got back to production and peace. But the "Mingo mine war" is a perennial, almost a static condition. It has never ceased. Hardly a month goes by without its flare-up. Obviously something is basically wrong.

Whether federal intervention is held an immediate advantage for the miners or for the operators, one hopes that in the end it will prove a lasting victory for the entire country, as the gateway for a thorough renovation and ordering of the affairs of the Mingo county coal field. There are now pending in congress resolutions for federal investigation of conditions which one hopes the emergency impelling the president to intervene will vitalize and bring to fruition. The state of civil war in southern West Virginia cannot be tolerated indefinitely. The nation must find the root of the trouble, and have it out.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Paul Hetti, 59, for twenty-four consecutive years a member of the La Crosse police force, died last night at his home on South Sixth street.

The Retail Grocers' association at a meeting Tuesday voted unanimously in favor of the rigid enforcement of the weights and measures state law, favored passage of a similar order now before the council and asked that a city sealer be appointed at once.

The railroad, finance, streets and alloys committees of the common council last night passed a resolution to the effect that the city of La Crosse does not wish to stand any of the expense of building a viaduct across the railroad tracks on Rose street. It was also decided that a letter should be drawn up advising the state railroad commission of the action of the committee.

Dr. J. M. Furstman personally purchased fifty health charts on his last trip to Chicago. Thirty of the charts have arrived and are posted in the health office in the city hall for the public to view.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The auxiliary pump which has been used by the city at Copeland's mill on the north side was removed to the south side today by the board of public works and hereafter will be used at the pumping station to assist the pumps in distributing artesian water through the city.

The choir of the German Lutheran church sang at the Barre Mills Lutheran church at the morning and evening services on Sunday.

The La Crosse Hamcock company is the name of a new concern which has been incorporated and will manufacture its product in La Crosse. M. Guenther, who formerly conducted a confectionery store on Main street, is at the head of the company which has a capital of $5,000. A factory is being erected on West Avenue South.

Dr. Gunderson and A. Belliere, the druggist, have gone to Arlington, S. D., where they will spend several months hunting prairie chickens.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Paul W. Mahoney who is now running a newspaper in Livingston, Montana, is coming back to La Crosse to make this place his future home. He will open an office in North La Crosse and practice law again.

The streets of the city and the fair grounds were cleaned up today after the fair.

The Hokah and La Crosse Hunting Clubs started last night for the chicken fields in Minnesota. Their special car was decorated and they had a wagon load of guns and ammunition.

John E. Wilson and Charles Wiles will start next Monday for Philadelphia to attend the annual meeting of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Society of North America. Mr. Wilson goes as a member of the National Board of Directors. He is the only man west of Buffalo, N. Y., who is a member of that board.

Comparatively little disorder was noticed in the city during fair week. There are now only two prisoners in the north side lock-up.

A CAREER AND A NAME

By H. ONLEY STENGER.

"Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis, Paris, Sacramento, New York, New York, Charleston, Charleston," murmured Elizabeth, as she quickly turned over the neat pile of letters and glanced at the postmark or handwriting on each. With a deep sigh she spread her snowy napkin and began on her grapefruit.

It distinctly annoyed Elizabeth to realize that she had expected a postmark and handwriting which were not represented in the morning's mail, that she had been expecting a certain letter for a month.

"But it would be the least, he could do to write a note," she defended, "and he must know about—"

"Good morning, Miss Elizabeth," Martha's slight entrance through the swinging door had not been observed by the girl. She glanced up quickly. The face of the woman told her nothing.

"Good morning, Martha. My how good your waffles look!" and Elizabeth managed a bright smile.

"But she didn't eat 'em like they was any better than ordinary cooks bake 'em," she never read a single one of the letters—not even Mr. Jack's," mused Martha when, on returning later, she first surveyed the plate from which only one golden-brown waffle was missing and then the retreating figure of the slender girl. "She's just a working too steady in that little study of her's turning out stories that the editor men are that eager to get now. Old Martha sure is proud of her child if we did have to come to New York or 'n this here apartment that don't give breathing space and could be set down 'n lost in the old mansion in Charleston. But who was it didn't write her? Everybody must know—can't think of the name so."

Settled in her chair, Elizabeth dutifully tore open her mail as a duty which must be performed before she turned to the day's programme of work. "Freedom," her first book, had been out but a short time, and relatives and friends—as well as publishers—were congratulating her upon its instant success. All except Tom Harrison, Oh, well, one couldn't expect everything in this life. But why was there no third? She had hoped the book would be popular and had counted upon these very letters as proof that she had not made a mistake in choosing a career and New York for its setting.

When left alone by the sudden death of her father—so soon after that of her invalid mother, Elizabeth had wanted to get away from the terrible loneliness. There had been much opposition to her plans upon the part of relatives and friends—again with one exception. Tom Harrison had been sure she would succeed. His belief in her had encouraged Elizabeth against every discouragement more editors could inflict. And now the letter was seeking her stories.

She read her cousin Jack's letter last. It was brief and meant to remind her that she had promised to dine with him on Thursday and go to the theater later. He would congratulate the successful author in person. He would arrive from Baltimore at five and come right out.

Elizabeth glanced at her calendar. Today was Thursday. She must settle down to work at once upon the serial promised this week.

Five o'clock found her still laboring. Martha had brought in luncheon on a tray and had fretted and fumed over "her child losing all her good looks sitting over a desk." As in a dream, Elizabeth heard the ring at the door and a familiar voice—but it was not until she was confronted by Jack himself, that she remembered he was due.

"A fine day to keep an engagement! Pardon the interruption—but hasn't a fellow a right to intrude upon one's time promised to him?"

"O, Jack, how glad I am to see you! I had no idea of the time—truly. And this is just finished," Elizabeth sprang up to greet him.

"I suppose a fellow should count himself lucky to get any time with a popular young author."

"Not every one does," Elizabeth retorted rather vehemently.

"And so some chap doesn't know when he is lucky?"

"Don't Jack, please! Amuse yourself and I'll be ready shortly."

Jack, "amused" himself by going out to the kitchen and inquiring of Martha regarding the care Elizabeth was taking of herself.

"No care at all, Mr. Jack. She don't even eat! Works too hard and something's worrying her."

When Elizabeth entered the book-lined living room Jack, observing her worn look, exclaimed, "It isn't worth it, Puss, not even for fame. Come on and play with me, I've something to tell you, too."

They chose a small but gay restaurant.

"Elizabeth," said Jack when they were sipping their coffee, "I know you can tell a love story better than I, but I think mine will interest you. I wanted this chance to tell you."

Elizabeth looked startled and then greatly relieved as he went on.

"Lucy is just a dear little girl—not fitted like you, Puss, but she has made me the happiest man alive."

It was not until they were on their way home in a taxi after the play that Elizabeth asked in a voice which she tried to make sound casual, "Do you often see or hear from Tom Harrison, Jack?"

"Yes, indeed. I go by to see him every day now. But you treat him mighty rough," Elizabeth.

"You go by to see him every day? I—I treat him—why Jack?"

"Can't he be that you don't know where he is, Elizabeth?"

"Why, in Washington, of course."

"It isn't a month since his operation in Baltimore. His friends have been allowed to see him for two weeks."

Even in the dim light in the taxi Jack saw Elizabeth suddenly turn white.

"Is—he out of danger, Jack? Oh, why didn't he let me know?"

"Yes, he is out of danger and he did let you know—he told me so himself."

"But I never got his letter."

JIM'S DOG

"There's no use talking, Jim," said Mrs. Hudson. "We just can't keep a dog. With a boy, two cats, chickens, gold-fish, and a canary, I should think you would have enough pets. If I'd let you, you would turn the place into a menagerie."

"Oh, mother," begged Jim, "just see what a dandy he is."

"Well, he is a nice dog, but we just can't afford to keep him. Where did you get him anyway?" asked his mother.

"Oh, he followed me home; a kid said he didn't want him." Jim failed to explain that he had had quite a bit of trouble coaxing the dog to follow, but just can't turn him out with no home," he said.

"Well, I'm afraid you will have to go out and find a home for him then," said his mother. "There ought to be some one around here who would like a dog. I'm truly sorry that we can't keep him."

And so Jim started out to find a home for his dog. Jim trotted along at his heels. Jim could not see why every one should not want such a fine dog. But to his surprise he could find no one who did. He talked up Jim's good points until you would have thought he was trying to sell him instead of just give him away.

Jim had gone the length of the street and knocked at every door. At first he had hoped he could find a home for Jim near his, but now he would be thankful to find one any place. "Why," he said to himself, "if I only had some money, I'd pay some one to take him and give him a good home."

He stooped down to pet Jim, but Jim was not there. Down the street a little way a small dog was barking joyfully and jumping around a young man as though he were crazy for joy.

They came up to Jim. "Where did you find him?" asked the man. "I wouldn't have lost him for anything. He's a pretty valuable dog, you know, chaser in a show." He thrust out a five-dollar bill towards Jim. "Come around to the circus tonight," he said. "I'll see that you get in free."

SOAP-BUBBLE RACING

Have you ever had a soap-bubble race? Try arranging one the next time you want to have some fun. A very soft old shawl or blanket is spread on the table or the floor. It should be thick and soft enough so that the bubbles will bounce on it. Rain-water and common yellow soap should be used for making the bubbles. A little glycerine added to the water helps to make the bubbles more lasting. Goals are made at each end of the blanket by placing two piles of books on it, leaving an opening between them.

The game is to see who can most quickly blow a bubble, deposit it on the blanket at one end, and blow it down the blanket through the goal at the other end. At the same time that you are blowing your bubble down you try to direct your puffs so that you will blow your opponent's bubble back. The one who succeeds in blowing the most bubbles through the other's goal wins the game.

Record is kept of the winner, and the one who comes out ahead after a ten-minute contest is the victor of the game.

Jones: "Because so many people are trying to kill it."

PARABLE OF THE PINCH OF SALT

BY WILLIAM E. BARTON

WHEN I dine at an hotel, and the waiter brings me a Plate of Soup, my first concern is to know how far he hath put his Thumb in it. But soon after that I become interested in the fact that the Soup hath not been salted.

Therefore, I look around for the Salt, and then for the Pepper, and about the time that I am eating the last of the Soup, it beginneth to be seasoned.

Whereas, when Keturah cooketh Soup for her husband, that unworthy man findeth it good from the First Bite, for she seasoneth it just Right. And when she Boileth Potatoes, she salteth the Water, so that the Potatoes are Salted all through; and she knoweth just how much of everything to put in.

Now, there is in life something

Jack gave Elizabeth a searching look. She turned away her face. "Puss," he asked, "is Tom the chap you thought wasn't counting himself lucky, and was he what was 'worrying' you? 'Cause if so, you're the only 'cure' he needs now."

"How do you know that, Jack?" Elizabeth's voice was eager.

"Oh, Tom didn't tell me or the doctor, but a lawyer who is in town knows certain symptoms, and guess your book is just an excuse to get me to talk to him every time I see him. My bet he is proud of you, Puss, but you not writing letters has cut mighty deep. You'll write him now, won't you?"

"No, Jack, it might get lost. I'm going to Baltimore in the morning."

Tom Harrison's recovery was very rapid after receiving the new "cure" on Friday afternoon. It was only a matter of weeks—during which Elizabeth always found a certain letter on her breakfast table—before a tall, pale young man presented him at a o'clock on Thursday afternoon to keep a dinner engagement with the young author of "Freedom." She had been ready and waiting for an hour.

The love story, which he told over the coffee cups was the sweetest Elizabeth had ever heard.

"But I don't care at all about freedom for myself," she insisted again and again, "and the only name I want is—Harrison."

CHIPPEWA RAFFLE WAS A LOTTERY IS CLAIM OF STATE

Attorney Sees Good Grounds for Suit to Have Property Forfeited

HEARING IS SCHEDULED FOR SEPTEMBER 16TH

Defense Claims Building Has Not Been Transferred as Yet

MADISON, Wis.—Adverse examination of officers of the Chippewa Falls Hotel company, trustees of the local lodge of Elks at Chippewa Falls, and of Peter Layman, holder of the lucky ticket which won the $200,000 hotel at a huge raffle in July, will be held September 16 before W. M. Rowe, court commissioner of Chippewa Falls county. W. W. Gilman, assistant attorney general said Saturday.

At that time the state will determine the grounds on which it is to base its case calling for forfeiture of the property under the lottery laws. Mr. Gilman will represent the state at the hearing.

It is understood that two claims will be advanced by those who are holding the hotel. Mr. Gilman said, one that the tickets which were sold specifically stated that they covered only the price of the dance and jubilee, and the other that the hotel has not actually been transferred as yet. The state will contend the statute governing lottery specifically includes "all sums of money and every other valuable thing, drawn or received by any person who is an inhabitant or resident of this state at the time, as a prize or share or part of a prize."

This provision is said to be so broad that it covers the case even though transfer has not been made, and even though value was received from the tickets.

A previous opinion of the attorney general has held that "in a general way, any scheme by which any kind of property is disposed of by chance, is a lottery. It does not matter that every holder of a chance may receive something of value, not even that such holder may receive full value for what he pays. Even if that be the case, the amount he pays is a consideration for the chance and thus holds forth a lure or inducement to improvidence."

YOUNG PEOPLE OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH MEET

What is to become of the young people of today? Is there a remedy? Religion, old fashioned religion, is the only and best remedy. With this idea in mind the Young People's society of the First Presbyterian church will hold their first meeting Sunday evening, September 4, at 8:30. A large number of members is expected to be present to work for a larger society. The whiteboard of the State Christian Endeavor convention, "Our Great Next Year," is to be the guide post of the local society during the next year.

Much enthusiasm was put in the work last year in the religious and social departments, to the enjoyment and pride of the members. A great deal of benefit can be derived from the meetings which are held in the forms of discussion. Every member has his turn to lead which develops the art of speaking before an audience. Parliamentary procedure is practiced and many opportunities are offered to give one's own views on public and religious questions. Socials are held very often as an opportunity for the members to get acquainted. The Sunday evenings are well spent and enjoyed by all and much knowledge is derived.

GIRL WHO DRINKS OR SMOKES SAID TO BE BAD INSURANCE RISK

CHICAGO, Ill.—Young women who smoke and drink may be fashionable but they are bad insurance risks. Miss Frances Partridge, general secretary of the Women's Benefit association of the Macabees, told the national fraternal congress of America here, Miss Partridge asserted that statistics of $250,000 cases showed girls to be fully as good insurance risks as men with the mortality rate among women slightly lower than for men.

Women who work are as good risks as women in the home, she asserted, and said that modern habits of dress and women's recently acquired independence are in part responsible for the increased longevity.

TREASURER REPORTS INCREASE IN PUBLIC DEBT DURING AUGUST

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An increase of $11,092,658 in the public debt during the month of August was announced Friday by the treasury. On July 31 the public debt stood at $23,771,237,008 as compared with $23,922,329,666 at the end of August. The increase during the month, the treasury officials explained, was due principally to issuance of treasury certificates in excess of maturities and the fact that August is not a month in which tax payments are made.

STATE FACES TASK OF PROPER TRAINING FOR RURAL TEACHERS

MADISON, Wis.—The problem of training competent rural teachers for Wisconsin schools is far from satisfactory, although better than in many other states, the superintendent of public instruction declares in his biennial report. At best, the county training schools are small and isolated so that it is about as difficult to secure and retain competent teachers in them as it is to secure enough competent and well trained girls to run the one-teacher schools, the report says. Recommendations are for consolidation of schools which will leave only the first six grades to be taught in one-teacher schools as in Delaware, the selection of the county superintendent by a county board and determination of his salary by them, and a change in the time of holding one-teacher schools in the north so that they may run during the summer and in seasons when climatic conditions permit work in such a school to be successful.

"GIPSY BLOOD"
Following the sensational success of "Passion" in America comes a second foreign production starring Pola Negri and called "Gipsy Blood," a screen adaptation of Prosper Merimee's original French story, "Carmen," which is showing for the first time tonight at the Rivoli. "Gipsy Blood" has been filmed in the same pretensions and impressive manner as "Passion" and promises to achieve an equally astounding success. It was produced under the direction of Ernst Lubitsch, who was also responsible for "Passion."

CHARMING STAR FEATURED
Edith Roberts, the star of "Jason," "The Fire Cat," "Thunder Island," and many other well known successes, will be seen at the Majestic theater on Sunday in her latest Universal production, "Luring Lips." In this drama of love, action and adventure the youthful star of the screen rises to the dramatic heights of her career. It is a delightful reward of personal ambition to Miss Roberts. Edith Roberts has been a featured player in Universal productions for over two years. Baggot was recently given directorial honors and assigned to "Luring Lips." Edith Roberts' latest release.

"SHAM"—RIVOLI
That Paramount picture is living up to their slogan "clover stars in good stories with perfect supporting casts." It is proved by "Sham," an Ethel Clayton stellar vehicle at the Rivoli theater Sunday.

"It has been some time," said Manager Koppeltberger of the playhouse in discussing the forthcoming feature today, "since I have been able to afford my patrons such a remarkable entertainment combination as 'Sham.' The star, Ethel Clayton, is again a queen of comedienne as a 'scat' grafter who 'forgets' to pay her bills and gets in no end of trouble as a consequence."

enthusiasm as was accorded to "Home Stuff," the Metro special which was shown yesterday at the Riviera. It will be shown again tonight.

Viola Dana stars in this picture. Her acting has a wonder-compelling charm.

"Home Stuff" is the story of Madge Joy, leading woman of a travelling show, who abandons stage-life to take up a quiet existence with a family of farmers. Madge never mentions her past life to the rustic couple to whom the stage is a sink of iniquity. Then in come her old associates, plus a young girl who had run away from the very home Madge has been adopted into. The situation is worked out interestingly and engrossingly. The supporting cast includes Tom Gallery, Josephine Crowell, Nelson McDowell, Priscilla Bonner, Robert Chandler, Allen Manning and Philip Sleeman. The Jubilee Girls of "The Onalaska High School" are on the same program.

MARY MILES MINTER
AT RIVIERA THEATER SUNDAY
There is quite an international flavor to "Her Winning Ways," the Renart picture in which Mary Miles Minter will be seen here Sunday at the Riviera.

The star herself, very proud of her Irish descent, Gaston Glass, her leading man, is a Frenchman, and Fred Goodwins, his rival in the picture, is an English actor.

The picture was produced, however, without the slightest friction between these frequently discordant nationalities, and everybody "parted friends" when the work was over. The Jubilee Girls in "Mary's Lamb" is the musical comedy attraction on the same bill. As an added attraction there will be five vaudeville specialties.

RUSSIAN FAMINE SITUATION WORSE THAN ANTICIPATED

RIGA.—By The Associated Press.
The famine calamity in the Volga district of Russia is heavier and more threatening even than had been anticipated, according to a message from M. Kalinin, head of the Russian central committee for famine relief who is in the Volga district. In the Kirghiz republic, the message said, children are in a horrible condition, their parents leaving them in the streets, on the steps of public institutions and in barns, where the heads of local commissions have to pick up lots of three or four years of age, half dead and starving.

The Huguenots
Huguenots was the name applied by the Roman Catholics to the Protestants of France during the religious struggles of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries. The term is of doubtful origin. Some authorities say it is corrupted from the French Huguenots, from the German Hugenossen, confederates; while according to others, the word is a diminutive of Hugo Hugues; Hugh, a patron saint of France.

EXPENSE OF COUNTY GOVERNMENT TAKES BIG JUMP IN STATE

County Administration Most Expensive Unit of State Government

MADISON, Wis.—Administration of county government was the most expensive of any Wisconsin governmental unit, report of the state tax commission shows. The cost was $2,950,277 last year, compared to $1,052,450 for the state, $1,906,493 for cities and $1,361,002 for towns and villages.

Local units throughout are shown to be more expensive than the state except for protection of person and property for which the state expended $1,442,747 while counties expended $670,088, cities $4,768,106 and towns and villages $1,261,062.

Cities paid by far the most on debts which cost them $7,286,438 last year, the state debt costing $171,000, counties $1,320,272 and towns and villages $2,077,761.

Total expenditures for the state were $11,268,501, for counties $21,666,813, for cities $37,230,899, and towns and villages $13,974,427. This does not include schools which cost $23,538,628.

NO SHORTAGE OF STATE TEACHERS SAYS ANDERSON

First Time in Years that Such Condition Exists Declares School Official

MADISON, Wis.—For the first time in several years it appears that there will be no shortage of teachers in the state. This was the statement of C. J. Anderson, Assistant State Superintendent of Schools Saturday.

"There is no evidence at the present time," said Mr. Anderson, "that the supply of teachers is exhausted. I am wondering whether it is possible that the young women are leaving the commercial field to return to teaching."

"Never before have we had teachers writing to us in hopes of securing a position. While we do not act as a teachers' agency, still we are now making up lists of teachers with their qualifications who have offered their services through our department to be distributed in the state. While some shortage may be developed there are no indications at present that this will be the case."

State Superintendent John Callahan has to date been denying all applications for the so-called "Evergreen permits" to allow young women to hold positions that are not fully qualified. Under the belief that there will be a sufficient supply of fully qualified teachers this year Mr. Callahan has been refusing to issue such permits.

If no shortage develops this will be the first time in several years that there have been enough teachers to go around. It took 6000 teachers for the rural schools last year, 4475 for the city graded schools, 1778 for city high schools, 1689 for state graded schools, 1591 for grades below high school, and 1401 for the country high schools.

NEW LEGISLATION SETS STANDARD FOR LIBRARY WORKERS

Important Changes Made in Library Laws at 1921 Session of Badger Legislature

MADISON, Wis.—Some of the most important library legislation for a decade or more has been passed by the legislature of 1921 and approved by the governor, is the statement of C. B. Lester, secretary of the free library commission.

Both the county library and certification laws were passed substantially as approved and urged by the Wisconsin Library association at its 1920 meeting. Some changes were made in the original draft of the latter act after mature deliberation by the senate committee on education and public welfare. These changes as offered by the committee under the chairmanship of Antonio Kuehik of Shawano, were adopted by the senate, and the bill as amended concurred in by the assembly.

The certification law is chapter 336. It provides for the issuance of certificates of four grades:

Grade one: requiring three years' college work, a one year course in an accredited library school, and two years' successful library experience.

Grade two: requiring one year's college work, a one year course in an accredited library school, and two years' successful library experience.

Grade three: requiring high school graduation, a six weeks' course in an accredited library school and one year's successful library experience.

Grade four: requiring high school graduation, and including such additional requirements as shall satisfy the board that the applicant is able to do successfully library work in the position to which such library certificates make such applicant eligible.

An applicant who has the necessary education and training but lacks experience may receive a license to serve one or two years to obtain this qualification.

The above qualifications set the legislative standards for the various grades. If an applicant does not have the specific academic or library school training set forth, a certificate may be granted if the applicant has demonstrated substantially equivalent attainments. Further any person who has served in a Wisconsin library for one year prior to 1923 and demonstrated his ability to do successful work, may be granted a certificate without examination.

Beginning in 1923 no person may be appointed librarian or full time assistant unless holding a certificate, but any person already employed may continue in his position without a certificate.

After January 1, 1923, a chief librarian appointed in a city of 8,000 or over shall hold a first grade certificate, in a city of 4,000 or over a second grade certificate, and in a city of 2,000 or over a third grade certificate. In case of emergency a temporary permit may be granted for the employment of one not holding the required certificate.

LA CROSSE SCORES THIRD IN CONTEST OF BADGER COUNTIES

Rock County Takes First Place in County Sweepstakes at State Fair

1921 FAIR BEST IN MANY YEARS DECLARES NORGORD

As Educational Enterprise Justifies
Money Spent by State

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Rock county Saturday was adjudged the winner of the county sweepstakes at the state fair. In this contest, animals and animal products and vegetables of all kinds were entered. Rock county had 8,239 points.

The next four counties in rank, each of which was awarded a banner, and the number of points each had follows:

Waukesha, 5,806 1/4; La Crosse, 5,206 3/4; Walworth, 3,312 1/4; Milwaukee, 2,433 3/4.

About 25 counties were entered in the contest.

The attendance at this year's fair did not compare favorably with a year ago, due to weather and other causes.

The policy of state in making the state fair a great educational exhibition justifies the money spent on it, regardless of the poor attendance and receipts this year, C. P. Norgord, commissioner of agriculture, said Saturday.

"The 1921 fair was the best Wisconsin has had in every respect except attendance," said Mr. Norgord. "Up to Friday night, 214,024 persons passed through the gates. The Vendor of breeders, showmen and the public in place, has placed the Wisconsin fair among the few great fairs of the nation."

"The officials of the fair, in agreement with the policy laid down by the governors and the legislatures, have proceeded on the policy of a good fair, measuring up to other great state fairs, or none."

"The wisdom of this policy is demonstrated in the attendance and income record of 1915 to 1920. The attendance in 1915 was 127,271, and the income $74,000. The attendance in 1920 was 227,394, and the income $226,000."

"The general business depression and meager returns coming to farmers for their crops had a depressing effect upon the attendance and income. The attendance will naturally rise and fall from year to year in conformity to the general economic conditions, but the educational and inspirational standard of the fair will go on without abatement."

"Naturally many mistakes are made, and opportunities for improvement are numerous. The fair officials and the advisory board earnestly invite criticism and suggestions."

DES MOINES AGAIN WITHOUT STREET CARS
DES MOINES, Ia.—Des Moines was again depending on motor buses for inter-city transportation Saturday, street cars having stopped at 11 o'clock Friday night in accordance with the federal court order. Service was resumed a week ago for the benefit of the Iowa State fair.

Whether the receivers and the federal court will agree to the proposals made yesterday by the workers is not known. The employees have agreed to place their service as security against loss in operating costs if the court will issue an order providing for service during the next thirty days.

TULSA MAN RUN OUT OF TOWN BY ANGRY MOB
TULSA, Okla.—A crowd of more than 100 armed and masked men Friday night seized J. B. Frazier, 28, put him in a motor car and took him to a lonely spot where they removed his clothing and lashed him. He was then ordered to leave town and told to warn his associates that similar treatment awaited them unless they ceased their alleged criminal activities.

POLICE SUSPICIOUS OF KOOPMAN'S TALE OF HOYER SLAYING

MILWAUKEE.—Bernard Koopman, hired man at the Moritz Hoyer farm, where Hoyer, his wife and daughter were shot Thursday night, the wife dying, was ordered held for further questioning after a grilling by the Ozaukee county prosecutor and sheriff which lasted till nearly midnight Friday night. Koopman was the only witness to the shooting, aside from the victims. He claimed that he had been fired at a dozen times but had escaped injury. Several theories have been evolved by the officials, one of which is said to involve a relative of Koopman's recently released from prison. The story as told by Koopman was that four bandits gained entrance to the house on a pretext of using the telephone, killed Mrs. Hoyer and wounded the father and daughter when the woman failed to hold up her hands.

SPARTA TAXI DRIVER FINED; DROVE MOTOR WHILE INTOXICATED

Cabby Arrested by Bangor Deputy Sheriff; Goes to Jail When Unable to Pay Fine

Albert Hiles, Sparta taxi driver, was fined $50 and costs, amounting to $11.24, by County Judge Brindley Saturday morning on charges of driving an auto in Bangor while intoxicated.

Hiles told the judge he had no money to pay the fine and costs so he was sent to the county jail for 30 days, to remain there until the sentence expires or he raises the price of the fine.

The taxi driver was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Wright of Bangor. He declared Hiles drove down the main street of the town, his car wobbling and zigzagging from side to side, and ended by running into a hole and upsetting. Two other men with Hiles were arrested and fined in Bangor on charges of intoxication.

BADGER BROUGHT BACK TO ANSWER FOR 1911 CRIME

MORRIS, N. D.—Orson Dodge, 48, farm laborer, has been taken back to Bayfield, Wis., by a deputy sheriff to stand trial for a murder said to have been committed in 1911.

Dodge was arrested after, it is alleged, he became drunk and told some other men he had murdered a woman at a lumber camp near Iron River, Wis., in a jealous rage. According to the sheriff's office he made a complete confession when arrested here.

The Wisconsin authorities say a Mrs. Mary Spaulding, cook in a lumber camp, was slain at the time and place mentioned by Dodge.

The funeral of Mrs. Will Ott, who died Wednesday, was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the Cathedral of St. Joseph. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

The Rev. Peter Pape, pastor of St. Joseph's, was the celebrant of the solemn requiem mass. Father Max Hippel was deacon and Father Edmond Greiner was sub-deacon. The aisle between the coffin and altar was banked with flowers, the floral tributes forming what was said to be one of the largest and finest at any funeral ever held in the city.

The pallbearers were John A. Miller, Otto Preschel, Dr. E. A. Garretts, John C. Burns, Charles A. Hunt and C. W. Tisdale.

ACCUSE EAU CLAIRE SHERIFF

MADISON, Wis.—John L. Dahl, of Rice Lake, assemblyman from Barron county, was appointed special commissioner to hear charges against Sheriff George Garman of Eau Claire county Saturday by Governor Blaine. The hearing will be held at Eau Claire on Tuesday.

Charge has been made that Sheriff Garman permitted escape of bank robbers lodged in the county jail, and failed to take proper steps to apprehend them. Reports of Mr. Dahl will be made to the governor, who will then decide whether or not he should remove the Eau Claire officer.

No Place For Tobacco Fiends

As a precaution against forest fires, smoking has been entirely prohibited in any part of the Olympic National Forest in Washington. The area covered by the "no smoking" order amounts to about 540,000 acres. The period of this prohibition is to be determined by the district forester at Portland, Oregon. The urgent reason for this action is due to the fact that the area was largely swept by a cyclone during the past winter and the ground is covered with broken trees and branches of trees so that if a fire were to get any headway at all, it would be difficult to check it.

FOUR AUTOMOBILES REDUCED IN PRICE BY THEIR MAKERS

Ford, Overland, Chevrolet and Jackson Car Prices are Slashed

Reductions in the prices of four well known makes of automobiles were announced today.

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Car company, today announced another reduction in prices of all models of Ford automobiles and trucks. This is the third reduction in twelve months, and the new prices, which are effective immediately, average $70 lower than before even those of 1917. Slashes range from $15 for runabouts to $100 for sedans and coupes.

The Willys-Overland Company announced big cuts in prices of all its cars. The new prices are: Chassis $495, reduction $35; Touring $505, reduction $100; Roadster $595, reduction $100; Coupe $850, reduction $150; Sedan $880, reduction $380; Willys Knight touring $1525, reduction $370; Roadster, $1475, reduction $420; Coupe $2195, reduction $355.

The third reduction in Chevrolet "four-ninety" models was announced by the Chevrolet Motor company today. The "four-ninety" touring car and roadster will list at $625 and the coupe and sedan will list at $875, f. o. b. Flint, effective today.

Jackson Motors corporation has reduced prices on its passenger automobile line ranging from $350 to $1,000 per car.

EXPECT TODAY WILL SEE END OF FIGHTING

would obey their orders and regulations.

General Bandholtz did not anticipate meeting any trouble and it is not expected the 2,000 troops held in reserve in army camps would be needed.

There were reports here early Saturday that there was a movement toward home in progress late Friday. It was expected the federal authorities would arrive at a decision Saturday on the question of declaring some form of martial law in the counties of Kanawha, Boone, Logan and Mingo. Drastic proclamation if one is issued is not expected here.

Miners Reported Dispersing

MADISON, W. Va.—After spending the night aboard cars the contingent of federal soldiers which arrived here late Friday night on a special train, departed for the Clothier district Saturday morning. The train was guarded closely during the night. A report circulated here was that some of the armed bands had already broken up and that the men were returning to their homes.

William Blizard, sub-district president of the United Mine Workers, left shortly after midnight for points on the firing line to inform the miners federal troops had arrived.

As the first of the troops started for Sharples, Sub-District President Blizard returned and reported shooting was still in progress but that the miners wished to return to their homes as soon as federal troops should come to guarantee them protection. He said five airplanes sent up from Logan county dropped bombs manufactured of gas-pipe and high explosives over the miners' land but that no one had been injured. One of the bombs, he said, fell between two women who were standing in a yard, but it failed to explode.

Fliers Deny Dropping Bombs
In connection with this statement of Blizard it may be stated that five army airplanes were ordered to make a reconnaissance of the disturbed area Friday afternoon. They reported everything quiet. The fliers said they carried no explosives.

At 7 a. m. Saturday a third troop train arrived in Madison and the town took on a martial aspect.

That the miners did not expect to give up the fight until the federal troops were actually on the fighting ground was evidenced here early Saturday, when a string of flat-cars armed to have been commandeered by armed bands, and carrying recruits and supplies to the front, preceded the first troop train up to Sharples.

Previously it had carried wounded miners from the front to their homes along the line to Danville.

Here and there along the route from St. Albans to Madison little groups of men and women were gathered at village stations. For the most part they were silent as the first train carrying federal troops rolled by.

Information Withheld
LOGAN, W. Va.—A man whose name was not revealed died at a hospital here during the night from wounds received on Blair mountain Friday, it was announced.

According to his story as reported by hospital authorities he and four companions, members of one of the bands gathered in the Clothier district, ran into machine gun fire from the mountain top. He did not know what became of the men with him, he is reported to have said just before he died.

If the couriers and others returning to Logan from Spruce Fork ridge knew what was happening there they did not talking unless it was to the authorities. What official statements were made added nothing to what had already been told. That firing continued here or there, was all that was said.

Conference at White House
WASHINGTON—The situation in West Virginia, where federal troops were taking their stations Saturday in accordance with directions to restore order and put a stop to mine disorders, was discussed by President Harding and Secretary Weeks at a conference held shortly before noon at the white house.

The nature of the subjects discussed was not revealed but it was presumed the war secretary laid before the president the latest reports from West Virginia.

Declaration of martial law was understood to be dependent on reports and recommendations from Brig. Gen. Bandholtz, commanding the troops ordered into the state. The proclamation has been ready for promulgation for several days and its issuance, it was stated, will rest entirely on General Bandholtz' recommendations.

Indications that the situation was viewed by officials generally in an optimistic light was seen in the decision of President Harding to carry out his plan to spend the week-end and

MELANCHOLIC DAYS

DAILY MARKETS

WHEAT MARKET IRREGULAR

Trading Opens Unsettled With Prices Holding Within Narrow Range
CHICAGO, Ill.—Wheat opened somewhat unsettled with prices holding within a range of about one cent. A small break early was followed by a sharp rally on buying by stock holders. The market closed strong, 1/2¢ to 1 1/2¢ above yesterday's finish.

The end of the first hour, however, found wheat 1 to 1 1/2¢ higher with interest taking on a slightly firmer tone.

Wheat showed more activity and there was some increase in outside interest and the market advanced sharply with houses with eastern connections free buyers. The local element also took the buying side and there was sufficient news of a bullish character to prevent any great amount of pressure. The market closed strong, 1/2¢ to 1 1/2¢ above yesterday's finish.

Corn opened rather dull and a trifle easier. Country offerings were light, due to some extent to recent break in prices. September opened a shade lower, with September 15¢ to 16¢, December 15 1/2¢ to 16¢ and May 15 1/2¢ to 16¢.

Corn was under pressure early but when wheat started upward covered grain followed. Trade was not large and mainly of a local character, the prospects of very large arrivals of spot corn over the next few days being a factor.

Wheat also found corn 1/2 to 3/4¢ above the opening with September 15 1/2¢ to 16¢, December 15 1/2¢ to 16¢ and May 15 1/2¢ to 16¢.

Quota opened 15¢ to 16¢, December 15 1/2¢ to 16¢ and May 15 1/2¢ to 16¢.

Quota also made a slight rally early and at the end of the hour and prices at a shade to 1/2¢ higher than the opening.

Provisions were steady.

BADGER BLUE SKY LAW APPLICABLE TO INSURANCE FIRMS

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin "Blue sky" law applies with equal force to life insurance companies as to other concerns selling securities, through amendment to the law by the last legislature. R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, holds in an opinion Saturday to G. S. Canright, director of the securities division of the railroad commission.

"In enacting the amendment of 1921, the legislature has clearly proceeded on the assumption that the securities law of 1910 does cover insurance companies," the opinion says. "The amendment should be treated as binding direction from the legislature that the securities law shall henceforth be treated as covering insurance companies."

ROD & REEL DIXIE CARROLL

FLY AND THE LARGE MOUTH
We have heard a good deal during the last few years, of fishing for both the large and small-mouth with the wet fly. I agree with this insofar as the streams are concerned, but can't see it as far as lake fishing is concerned. On a stream, where the natural haunt of the bass is usually in the riffles below rapids, near snags and in the deep pools below the rapids, there is no reason why the fishing game cannot be played with enjoyment, especially when the fish are really taking the fly. But when I push the canoe or boat from the shore of a lake my tackle equipment as far as baits are concerned consists of the artificials, spoons and live baits, unless it is necessary to bore deeper into the spring holes, when a nice wriggly pink worm (or minnow) will win the gold-embroidered bait championship any day or night in the fishing season.

As far as angling for large-mouth with the fly is concerned I have passed the bet and tossed by hand away. Experimentally it may be alright to tinker around for an hour or so off the edge of the narrows where the lake waters are quiet in trying this method of induction into the creel, but as a constant part of my angling diet I refuse to stamp this method of large-mouth fly-fishing with my humble approval. It is not the proper and natural manner in which to catch the large-mouth.

The same fish seems to prefer the still waters and does not have much objection to muddy bottoms or weedy lakes and will naturally gravitate to these places in preference to the gravel or rock bottoms that the small-mouth prefers. The large-mouth is frankly interested in eating and there is more chance to lure him along with a chunk of natural or artificial food than there is by flapping a small fly across his nose. So until the cows come home I will use a live bait, or at least a good imitation of one when struggling gamely through life trying to bring a couple large-mouths to guff.

It was the first day of school and Gordon, who is now in the second grade, brought his little brother, Arthur, to school with him to start in the first grade. The teacher said to Gordon: "How old is Arthur?" Gordon answered: "I don't know, but we've had him to three falls."

AMERICAN NET MEN WIN TWO STRAIGHT MATCHES DEFENDING DAVIS CUP

Victory in Third Challenge Round Saturday with Japanese Players Means Retention of Cup

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Prospects that the Davis cup, emblematic of the world's team championship might travel to Japan this fall, received a decided setback on the courts of the West Side club here Friday afternoon, when American defending players won two straight matches from their Japanese challengers.

William N. Johnston of San Francisco, national champion in 1915 and 1919, defeated Lohyia Kumagae in straight sets at singles by 6-2, 6-1, 6-2. William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, present American titleholder, had a far more difficult task in subduing Zenzo Shimidzu in a five set battle by 5-7, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, 6-1.

Play Doubles Saturday
Saturday Watson M. Washburn of New York, and E. Norris Williams of Boston, American doubles team, will play the same Japanese players in the third match of the challenge round. A victory for the American pair will mean the retention of the cup, won in New Zealand last winter as three victories out of five matches are all required under the rules.

Johnston's defeat of Kumagae was the result of far more perfect and convincing tennis than that shown by the present champion against Shimidzu. The little Californian completely dominated the play in the first match and raced away to victory as if desirous of escaping as soon as possible from the torrid atmosphere which hung over the courts. There was a speed control to all his strokes particularly those constantly driven to Kumagae's backhand, which caused the Japanese veteran to pile up repeated errors. The form of attack coupled with Johnston's ability to drive through an ungettable placement shot when the occasion required, kept him in complete control of the play.

Kumagae's Errors Numerous
Johnston, in winning with a loss of only eight games in three sets, actually earned only five more points than his opponent. It was in the twenty-two additional errors that Kumagae piled up, particularly at the net, which gave Johnston his wide winning margin.

While the nets and outs went as errors in the Japanese's stroke analysis, many of them might have been termed careless points for Johnston. These were due to the almost impossible returning attempts of Kumagae in his efforts to block or drive back the smashes or placement strokes which the Californian drove down the side lines at the Japanese player's feet or lobbed over his head, when Kumagae, in sheer desperation attempted to play a net game, a most unusual situation for him.

Second Game Spectacular
If the finality of Johnston's game prevented a lack of thrills in his game against Kumagae, the Tilden-Shimidzu battle more than made up for this lack of spectacular play in the opening contest. The present American champion opened in a most impressive fashion against his Japanese opponent.

Tilden opened with an exhibition of his racquet wizardry, which always appealed to the gallery, and after winning the first three games, two of which went to deuce by speed and placement, Tilden elected to bring into play a change of pace and chop strokes.

This softening of his game, with most of the strokes being made from deep court, fitted in exactly with Shimidzu's idea of tennis campaign. On his own baseline, the Japanese player was steadiness personified, returning almost every ball with excellent control, and he soon had Tilden on the run. The latter apparently found it difficult to revive his forcing game, and in his mixing of soft and hard strokes piled up errors and was forced out of position by Shimidzu's lobbing and side line tactics until he dropped the first two sets.

Jap Close to Victory
The third set, which was really the turning point of the match, moved steadily in Shimidzu's favor until the Japanese challenger was within two points of victory.

The heat during the afternoon was intense, and both Tilden and Shimidzu were exhausted by their continuous footing about the turf in the torrid atmosphere. Shimidzu, in addition, developed a slight attack of cramps, and the American champion, sensing the fact that his opponent was slowing up, forced the pace sufficiently to win the third set at 7-5 and gain a respite of ten minutes in the clubhouse.

FIRST HEAT OF BRITISH INTERNATIONAL HARMSWORTH TROPHY CONTEST ON DECK AS OUTSTANDING EVENT ON SATURDAY

DETROIT, Mich.—After a lull of two days, racing in the gold cup Harmsworth speedboat regatta here was resumed Saturday with the first heat of the British international (Harmsworth) trophy contest as the outstanding event.

Four of the speediest water craft in the world were entered in the international classic, Maple Leaf VII, the 1,800 horse-power British challenger facing a trio of American defenders. The defenders are Miss America II, built by Gar A. Wood of Detroit, to develop a speed of more than eighty miles an hour; Miss America I, holding the world's speedboat record of 76.655 miles an hour, and Miss Chicago of the Chicago Yacht club, the fastest single engine hydroplane in the world.

That a new world's record would be established in Saturday's heat seemed a foregone conclusion among racing officials. Both Miss America II and Maple Leaf VII, have shown terrific speed in trials over the course.
